Contents

List of figures
List of tables
Preface

1. Introduction: creating a just and sustainable economy

Part I: Creating a new economic framework
2. Adam Smith's silence and an economics of property
3. Reclaiming the notions of provision and family
4. Making provisions in a dangerous world

Part II: The civic option
5. From property relations to civic relations
6. Society, civil society, and the market
7. Restoring reciprocity
8. Civic norms and market competition

Part III: A civic view of labor, land, and money
9. Labor: employment as engagement
10. Land: ownership as a concession
11. Money: commodity or credit

Part IV: Civilizing economic systems
12. A world of systems
13. Imagining a stakeholder economy
14. The ethics of economic systems
15. Changing systems of provision
vi CONTENTS

Part V: A civic agenda 207
16. The civic obligations of corporations 209
17. Creating circumstances for civic conversations 222

Appendix: Free enterprise and the economics of slavery 235
Bibliography 254
Index 262