

---

TABLE OF CONTENTS

---

Preface .....	v
Author Biographies .....	xiii
Table of Cases .....	xix
Table of Legislation .....	xxiii

Part 1: Setting the Scene..... 1

1. Editor's Introduction .....	3
R Ian McEwin
I. Background .....	3
II. Intersection between IPRs and Competition Law .....	5
III. Competition, Innovation and Welfare.....	6
IV. Asian Legal Systems .....	9
V. Why Should Countries Introduce Competition and IP Laws? .....	9
VI. IP Laws, Competition Law and Economic Growth .....	10
VII. IP and Competition Laws: The Experience in Asia .....	11
VIII. Do Asian Countries Pursue Different IP and Competition Law Goals? .....	13
IX. The Conference Background Papers.....	14
X. Country Chapters .....	16
A. Australia.....	17
B. China .....	17
C. India.....	18
D. Indonesia .....	18
E. Japan .....	19
F. Singapore.....	19
G. South Korea.....	20
H. Thailand .....	20
I. Vietnam .....	21
2. A Regulator's Perspective on Getting the Balance Right .....	23
William E Kovacic
I. Introduction.....	23
II. The Need to Balance Patent and Completion Policy.....	25
III. Recommendations of the FTC IP Report.....	27
A. Recommendations to Minimise Issuance of Questionable Patents .....	27
B. Recommendations Supporting the Elimination of Questionable Patents.....	28
C. Recommendations Supporting the Disclosure Function of Patents.....	30
D. Recommendation to Consider Economics in Setting Policy.....	31
IV. Conclusion .....	32

3. The Role of Economic Analysis in Competition Law.....	35
Douglas H Ginsburg and Eric M Fraser
I. Introduction.....	35
II. Economic Analysis and Competition Agencies.....	36
A. Experience in the United States.....	36
B. The Lessons of Experience.....	40
C. Competition Advocacy.....	42
III. Economic Analysis and the Relationship between Agencies and the Courts.....	44
IV. Economic Analysis in the Supreme Court: Promoting the Rule of Law.....	46
V. A Challenge for the Rule of Law.....	48
VI. Conclusion.....	51
VII. Appendix.....	52
4. Favouring Dynamic Competition over Static Competition in Antitrust Law.....	53
J Gregory Sidak and David Teece
I. Introduction.....	53
II. Economic Theory and the Structuralist Tradition.....	55
A. Static Efficiency and the Disputed Efficacy of Antitrust Intervention.....	55
B. Market Structure as a Determinant of Innovation.....	56
C. Why is a Nexus between Market Structure and Innovation Unlikely to Exist?.....	59
D. Why Market Share is a Poor Proxy for Appropriability.....	61
E. Innovation as a Determinant of Market Structure.....	64
F. Summary and Recapitulation.....	66
III. Static Competition and Dynamic Competition.....	67
A. Static Competition.....	70
B. Dynamic Competition.....	70
IV. Relevant Aspects of Evolutionary and Behavioural Economics.....	73
V. Implications for Antitrust Law and Merger Policy.....	76
A. Framing Dynamic Competition's Animating Force in the Law.....	76
B. Market Definition.....	78
C. Market Share and Actual versus Potential Competitors.....	79
D. Analysing Capabilities to Assess Competitor Positions and Economic Power.....	81
E. Merger Analysis.....	82
F. Intellectual Property Issues.....	92
VI. Conclusion.....	93
Part 2: Country Chapters.....	95
5. Australia.....	97
Bob Baxt and Henry Ergas
I. Introduction to Intersection and Concerns.....	97
II. Interaction of IP and Competition Laws.....	97
A. Introduction.....	97
B. Copyright.....	101

C. Patents.....	105
D. The Interaction with the TPA.....	107
E. Conclusions .....	111
III. Treatment of Joint Ventures in Competition Law .....	113
A. The Australian Position .....	113
B. Joint Ventures and Australian Competition Law .....	113
C. Understanding the Cartel Act.....	113
D. International Treatment of Joint Ventures .....	116
E. Does the New Joint Venture Defence in the TPA Apply to the Relevant Cartel Provisions? .....	116
F. What is a Relevant Joint Venture? .....	116
G. What is the Meaning of ‘Contract’ and the Rules of Statutory Interpretation?.....	117
H. Joint Ventures for the Acquisition of Goods and/or Services.....	118
I. A Further Australian Problem—the Division of Powers between Commonwealth, State and Territory Governments.....	120
IV. Conclusions.....	122
6. China .....	125
Michael Jacobs and Xinzhu Zhang
I. Introduction.....	125
II. Compulsory Licensing and the Long Term.....	127
III. The Relevant Case Law and the Relevant Differences, Briefly Discussed.....	130
A. The US Case Law.....	130
B. The European Case Law.....	132
IV. The Difference between EU and US Competition Law in Regards to Protecting Consumer Welfare.....	133
V. The Broader Implications of these Differences.....	136
VI. The Legal Framework for Compulsory Licensing of IP in China .....	138
A. China’s Laws on the Intersection of IP and Competition .....	139
B. Institutions for Antitrust Enforcement in IP.....	142
C. The Draft ‘Anti-Pricing Monopoly Regulation’.....	143
VII. Inadequacies in China’s Legal Framework for Compulsory Licensing.....	146
VIII. Relevant Factors in Determining China’s Compulsory Licensing Policy.....	149
A. High Proportions of Patents Granted to Non-Residents.....	149
B. Enforcement Capability .....	152
IX. Conclusions and Recommendations .....	153
7. India.....	155
Vinod Dhall and Augustine Peter
I. Introduction.....	155
II. The Industrial and Technology Policies of India.....	156
A. Phase I: The Socialist Phase.....	156
B. Phase II: De-Regulation, 1980–81 to 1990–91 .....	157
C. Phase III: Liberalisation from 1991.....	158

III. Evolution of the Technology Policies.....	158
IV. Evolution of Competition Law and Intellectual Evolution of Competition and IP Laws.....	161
A. Evolution of Competition Law in India .....	161
B. Evolution of IP Laws in India.....	164
V. Interface between Competition Law and IPRs .....	167
VI. Conclusions and Observations .....	174
8. Indonesia .....	179
Ningrum Sirait and Cento Veljanovski
I. Introduction .....	179
II. Overview.....	179
III. Country Background.....	182
A. Economic Environment.....	182
B. IP Investment and Protection.....	184
IV. Intellectual Property Law .....	187
A. Copyright.....	188
B. Patents.....	188
C. Trademark.....	188
V. Competition Law .....	189
A. Indonesia's Competition Reforms.....	189
B. Intellectual Property Right Guidelines .....	190
C. Licenses Pooling and Cross Licensing.....	191
D. Tying and Bundling.....	191
E. Limitations in Raw Material .....	191
F. Limitation in Production and Sales .....	192
G. Limitation in Sales and Reselling Price.....	192
H. Grant-Back .....	192
I. Competition Cases Related to IPR Issues .....	193
VI. Policy Issues.....	194
A. Competition Principles.....	194
VII. Conclusions .....	196
9. Japan .....	197
H Stephen Harris, Jr and Hiroshi Ohashi
I. Introduction .....	197
II. Overview of Japan's Anti-Monopoly Act.....	198
III. The Structure of Japanese Antitrust Enforcement.....	199
IV. JFTC Procedures for Antitrust Cases.....	200
A. Sanctions.....	201
B. Civil Procedure.....	202
V. Overview of Japan's Intellectual Property Laws.....	203
VI. The Anti-Monopoly Act and IP Laws in Japan.....	205
VII. IP-Related AMA Cases in Japan.....	208
VIII. New Amendments to the AMA.....	210
IX. Law and Economics of Japan's Antitrust Enforcement .....	211

10. Singapore.....	217
Ashish Lall and Daryl Lim
I. Introduction .....	217
II. The Economic Framework .....	218
A. Singapore's Economic Structure .....	218
B. International Innovation Rankings .....	222
C. Innovation Metrics .....	224
D. Appraisal.....	233
VIII. The Legal Framework .....	233
A. The Law .....	233
IV. Policy.....	243
V. Conclusions .....	252
11. South Korea.....	255
Sang-Seung Yi and Seong-wook Heo
I. Introduction .....	255
II. Overview of Korean Competition Law Enforcement .....	257
III. The Four Mergers.....	259
A. Hyundai-Kia Merger (1999).....	259
B. SK Telecom-Shinsegi Telecom Merger (2000) .....	261
C. Muhak-Daesun Merger (2003) .....	264
D. DCC-CCC Merger (2006).....	267
IV. Our Analysis .....	270
V. Concluding Remarks.....	276
12. Thailand: Medicines, Competition Law and Compulsory Licensing .....	277
R Ian McEwin and Sakda Thanitcul
I. Introduction .....	277
II. Thailand: Economic Background.....	279
III. Thailand's Intellectual Property Laws.....	281
IV. Thailand's Competition Law .....	282
V. TRIPS and Compulsory Licensing.....	284
VI. Pharmaceutical Industry Competition, Competition Law and Licensing .....	287
VII. Compulsory Licensing of Pharmaceuticals in Thailand.....	293
VIII. The Trade Competition Commission's Decision in Abbott .....	296
IX. Conclusion.....	297
13. Vietnam: A Review of the Legal Framework and Enforcement .....	299
Doan Tich Phuoc and Bui Nguyen Anh Tuan
I. Introduction .....	299
II. Overview of the Economy .....	300
A. Overview.....	300
B. Market Structure.....	301
C. R&D Expenditure .....	304

III. Background to Competition Law and IP and their Intersection in Vietnam .....	306
A. IP Laws .....	306
B. Competition Law .....	307
IV. Intersection Issues .....	307
A. Compulsory Licensing.....	308
B. Licensing Contract.....	309
C. Unused patent and technical restrain agreement .....	309
D. Exemption .....	310
E. Unfair Competition .....	310
V. Procedures to Deal with Intersection Issues and the Entities in Charge .....	311
A. Competition and IP Law Enforcement Authorities.....	311
B. Authority and Procedure for Compulsory Licensing .....	311
C. Procedure for Exemption on Horizontal Agreement .....	313
D. Case Studies.....	313
VI. Conclusions and Recommendations.....	315
A. Main Findings .....	315
B. How Should the Intersection be Treated? .....	318
C. Policy Recommendations .....	319
VII. Appendix.....	319
Appendices .....	321
Index .....	323