Categorization in Discourse and Grammar
Contents

Małgorzata Fabiszak and Karolina Krawczak
Categorization in Discourse and Grammar ..............................................................9

Part 1: Figurative Processes in Context

Zoltán Kövecses
Contextual Factors in Metaphor Creation in Discourse .........................................21

Danuta Pluta-Wojciechowska
Metaphors in the Speech of Children with Language Impairment ..........................33

Wojciech Wachowski
A Few Remarks on the Distinction between Metaphor, Metonymy, and Synecdoche.................................................................43

Jarosław Wiliński
Frame, Metaphor and Metonymy in Onomasiological Lexicography .......................65

Part 2: Metaphor, Conceptual Integration Networks and Political Discourse

Orsolya Putz
Ideology as a Contextual Factor in Metaphor Production ....................................83

Ewa Gieroń-Czepczor
Politicians-are-Animals Metaphor in Scenarios of Breeding and Hunting in Polish Political Discourse .................................................................99

Agnieszka Mierzińska-Hajnos
Rats Can’t Swim: How Brandt and Brandt’s Model of Conceptual Integration Operates Behind Selected American Political Cartoons .......... 123

Anna Wyrwa
Worldview, Metaphor, and Politics. The Translator’s Perspective ........................143
Part 3: Metaphor, Conceptual Integration Networks and the Conceptualization of Emotions

Anna Rewiś-Łętkowska
Degrees of Metaphoricity: A Dynamic View on Fear Metaphors...................... 161

Krzysztof Kosecki
Metaphors and Metonymies of Emotions in Three Unrelated Signed Languages ........................................................................................................ 175

Kamila Midor
Loss for Words & Words for Loss. How Americans Talk About Loss When They Grieve: Metaphor and Blend ................................................................. 193

Part 4: Categories and Categorization

Maria Libura, Agnieszka Libura, and Paweł Bechler
On Some Peculiarities of the Semantics of Non-Prototypical Members of disease Category: A Corpus-Based Analysis...................................................... 215

Przemysław Wilk
On the Polysemy of the Lexical Item Europe:
An Approach from Access Semantics ................................................................ 239

Part 5: Cognitive Linguistic Accounts of Grammar

Joanna Podhorodecka
The Role of Constructional Factors in Passivization. Infinitival Passives of Perception Verbs .................................................................................................. 253

Agnieszka Kaleta
The English get-Passive Revisited ...................................................................... 267

Katarzyna Kwapisz-Osadnik
Perceptual Structures and Grammatical Constructions on the Basis of Aspectual Opposition in French................................................................. 285
Józef Marcinkiewicz
Verb Transfer in L2 Acquisition vs. Stage Model of Figure/Ground
A Case Study with Evidence from Lithuanian and German ............................. 297

Kamila Turewicz
Towards More Radical Solutions for Categorization Problem
in Phonology. A Cognitive Grammar Perspective........................................ 313